Council Opposes Rezoning of Sunrise Property to Allow Commercial Offices

by Diane Oberg

At its February 22 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council declined to support rezoning the Bednarik (Sunrise) Property to allow three commercial office buildings. The owners already have plans and approval to build a high-rise apartment building on the property, located along Hanover Parkway between the Maryland Trade Center and the Greenway Village Apartments.

The most recent proposal by the owners calls for construction of 500,000 square feet of office space in three buildings. Russell Shipley, attorney for the owners, said at the meeting that they would not file for the necessary rezoning without the city's support.

The council voted unanimously to oppose the rezoning. Traffic was a major concern for both the council and the Advisory Planning Board, which also opposed the project. The intersection of Greenbelt Road and Hanover Parkway is the area most affected by the development.

Robert L. Morris, a traffic engineer for the project, said that the apartments would result in a level of service C for that intersection, versus a borderline C-D level for the office buildings. Morris said these figures reflect the level of service after the planned improvements to Greenbelt Road. Currently, the intersection functions at level of service D.

According to City Planning and Development Coordinator Celia Wilson, at level of service C, characterized as stable flow, drivers can generally get through an intersection in one traffic cycle, while level D exhibits unstable flow, where drivers may have to wait through more than one cycle.

Councilmember Thomas X. White said that while he opposed the current proposal, if the project were further scaled back, it might reach the point where the office buildings would be a "net plus" for traffic. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, who agreed, suggested that Shipley may want to meet again with APB if the owners can further reduce the office project.

Councilmember Antoinette M. Bram differed, however, saying that the city does not need any more office space.

Councilmember Edward Putens suggested that the city undertake its own traffic study, so that it had independent information for evaluating development proposals.

Shipley summarized the benefits of the commercial project for the city. He said that the commercial project would, because of its higher value, result in increased revenues for the city while requiring fewer services. He noted that the developers have already reduced the proposed size of the project by 20 percent and have offered to reduce it further, to 450,000 square feet.

Agreeing that the current traffic situation at the Greenbelt-Hanover Parkway intersection is poor, Shipley said that the planned road improvements are essential. Therefore he said that the offices would be a better deal for the city, since they would take longer to build, allowing time for the road improvements to occur. He estimated that the apartments could be finished within two years, while the office complex would require ten years to complete.

Legislation

The council passed legislation to:

- authorize the sale of bonds to finance construction of Ora Glen Drive through the Smith-Ewing property. Costs of the road work, along with any financing costs incurred, will be repaid over a 15 year period by the owners of the Smith-Ewing property.
- appropriate $10,000 for appraisals and incidental costs relating to the purchase of the Shimmel and Steiner properties adjacent to Schrom Hills Park.
- appropriate $10,500 from revenue sharing funds for the purchase of word and data processing equipment and software.
- appropriate $148,600 for the debt service budget to cover the costs of interest on the $5,000,000 bond issue sold in November. City Manager James K. Giese certified that revenues from the investment of the bond issue proceeds would offset the entire appropriation.

WHAT GOES ON

Tuesday, Mar. 15, 8 p.m. Public Meeting - New Greenbelt Study, Hunting Ridge Clubhouse 6914 Hanover Pkwy.
Wed., Mar. 16, 8 p.m. Advisory Planning Board meeting on Greenbrook Village development proposal, Conference Room, Municipal Bldg.
Thurs., Mar. 17, 7:30 p.m. Crime Prevention Committee, Conference Room, Youth Center.
8 p.m. Community Relations Advisory Board, Employees Lounge, Municipal Bldg.

- appropriate $43,200 to pay for professional services related to the Adult Day Care and Senior Center projects planned for the North End Center.

Street Vendors

Giese reported that the State Highway Administration has agreed to post "No Stopping, Standing or Parking" signs along Greenbelt Road and Kenilworth Avenue. Giese had suggested this as a possible solution to traffic problems caused by vendors operating along these highways. He noted, however, that enforcement will be against those who stop to buy, rather than against the vendors themselves.

Giese said that Delegate Mary Conroy has introduced a bill in the state legislature to restrict street vendors if they present a traffic hazard. He said it might be difficult to prove a vendor is creating such a hazard.

Greenbelt Museum Has New Toy Exhibit

by Sandra Barnes

Re-enter Greenbelt's historic past with a visit to the Greenbelt Museum. During the month of March, a special toy exhibit is on display in the living room and child's bedroom. All of the toys are of 1930s and 1940s vintage. They include a quilt set — a kind of early ring toss-game; a tin music box; a box of Gilbert metal puzzles containing 18 different parts; a child's felt doll hanger with paper mache head; a red wooden barn. Of special interest is the Charlie McCarthy puppet, a donation from City Manager James K. Giese. A number of other games, books, ice skates and other toys are exhibited.

The Greenbelt Museum is open every Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. and by special appointment. Call 474-1936 to arrange for special tours.

New artifacts on display at the Museum are a set of hand-embroidered place mats and napkins, gifts from Polly Brown, one of the first teachers at Greenbelt High School when it opened in 1938. Bakelite napkin rings in the shape of birds hold the napkins in place. A recent donation of depression glass was the gift of the Jay Brubaker family.

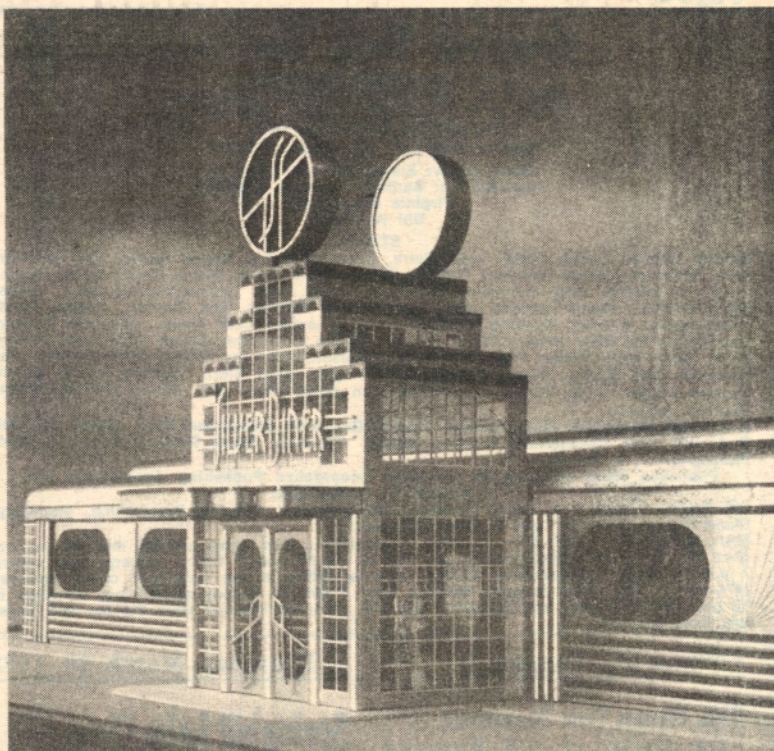

Gifts to the Greenbelt Museum are tax deductible. Donors receive a special gift form when their donation is accepted.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING NEW GREENBELT STUDY

TUESDAY, MARCH 15, - 8:00 P.M. in the Hunting Ridge Club House
6914 Hanover Parkway

Council will present and seek comments on the New Greenbelt Study, prepared by staff of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. This study report shows how the design standards of the original planned community can be implemented in Greenbelt East. All citizens groups, associations, and individual citizens are encouraged to attend and comment on the proposals contained in the report, which may be obtained or reviewed at the City Offices, 25 Crescent Road.

Please call 474-3870 or 474-8000 for further information.
NOTE: The public meeting will be videotaped and aired on March 17, 22, and 23 at 2 and 7 p.m.
Gudrun H. Mills, CMC
City Clerk

The Silver Diner as depicted in the Investment Summary issued by the Silver Diner Limited Partnership, developer of the restaurant. The proposed location of the diner is adjacent to the Standard Federal Bank in the northeast parking lot of the Greenway Shopping Center. According to the summary, the diner will seat 196 customers and provide affordable meals in a comfortable environment. The diner will be patterned after old-time diners but updated for modern tastes.

According to the report of the city's Advisory Planning Board presented to the city council on February 22, construction of the diner does not require subdivision approval since it is considered part of an integrated shopping center. The landscaping and site plans do require approval of the county Park and Planning Commission. APB recommended that the city indicate its approval of the site and landscape plans with conditions relating to handicapped access and relocation of trees affected by the construction.

Primary Winners Here

In the Democratic Presidential Primary Tuesday in Greenbelt, Gov. Michael Dukakis was the front runner with 45% of the vote, followed by Jesse Jackson (25%) and Albert Gore (10%) — a mirror of the State totals. Jackson again carried Prince Georges County as he had in 1984. Dukakis took the top vote in all precincts except Springhill Lake where Jackson received more votes than all other presidential candidates combined. (See box on page 7.)

For the Republicans, Vice President George Bush (47%) had a comfortable win over Senator Robert J. Dole with 36%. Bush led in all four precincts.

Incumbent Democrat Senator Paul Sarbanes trounced his opponents, receiving 90% of the vote. Two Republican candidates for the Senate garnered more than 10% of the vote: Thomas L. Blair (55%) and James G. Bennett (14%).

The two Republican candidates for the House of Representatives, John Eugene Sellner and Gregory K. Washington, respectively got 54% and 46% of the vote. With no opposition, incumbent Democrat, Representative Steny Hoyer's name did not appear on the ballot.

Greenbelt's turnout was better than expected. Fifty % of registered Democrats voted and 42% of Republicans, for an overall average of 48%.

The Road Not Taken

To the Editor:

I am a resident of Greenbelt. The duties and responsibilities should be obvious. The paying of taxes does not absolve me from getting involved in the administration of my local government — in this case a road.

Hanover Parkway was simply going to connect two logical points in the expanding local transportation system. So we thought. After what seems like more than six months, a time allowed for much larger projects, the less than half-mile stretch is still miles away from completion. I bring up the cheap shot at my local government "if I paid taxes like they build roads around here . . . well you get the picture."

The road should have been completed when it was begun. There are no good reasons for incompetence. Finish the road and end the unfortunate daily reminder of the obvious problems of representative democracy.

A disappointed taxpayer
W. Miller

Editors: Note: Construction of the extension of Hanover Parkway is funded by, and the responsibility of, the Prince Georges County government, not the City of Greenbelt.

Runners & Joggers
Are Invited to Race

The Prince Georges Running Club will conduct an eight-kilometer (4.96 mile) distance running race, Sunday, March 13 in Greenbelt Park at 9:30 a.m. There will be a fee for this race but a 1.5 mile race starting at 9 a.m. will be free. Runners or joggers of all speeds are encouraged to participate. Long-sleeved t-shirts will be given to all entrants, and awards by age groups as well as random prizes will be awarded. Runners may sign up race day starting at 8 a.m. at the race site in the park's Holly Picnic area off Greenbelt Road. For information call 474-9362.

CITY NOTES

The General and Special Details Crews began construction of a scoreboard for the Greenbelt Little League. The new scoreboard will be placed at McDonald's Field in time for the upcoming season.

The crews also removed the "baby" pool and sections of the concrete deck at the swimming pool as part of the reconstruction project.

The Parks Crew trimmed trees and seeded the median strip along Southway. The crew removed old leaves from various sections of Springhill Lake. The crew also began Spring preparation of softball and baseball fields throughout the city.

The Special Trash Crew was in operation every day this week. It is now taking two to five working days to service citizens' special trash requests.

The Greenbelt Connection had another "full capacity" week.

Growing Concerns

To the Editor:

The residents of Greenbelt have the opportunity to follow events taking place at city council meetings by articles written and published in this newspaper. For some time, I've been following with growing concern those issues being discussed, how they are presented, and more importantly what appears to be the ongoing contentiousness among council members in conducting routine city business.

The February 25 News Review published a front-page article that clearly demonstrates the point I'm making. When is it permissible for one council member to read a "lengthy, prepared statement" during a council meeting in which he makes personal criticisms of his fellow council members? This statement which Mr. Isaacs felt compelled to read was a result of his "personal dismay" for the council not deferring an agenda item at the January 28 meeting. Mr. Isaacs had apparently been called out of town and had asked that the vote be postponed until February 8.

Should we allow our city officials to be personally attacked and a meeting disrupted each and every time Mr. Isaacs' (or any other council member's) requests are denied? There is serious business at hand here — issues that affect each and every one of us. The critical problems existing in the management and development of Greenbelt are not addressed by having council members minimize the importance of the meetings, and the job that they have been elected to do.

There is a vast difference between being the campaigning candidate and the elected official. The citizens of Greenbelt need to be diligent in seeing that our council represents us to the best of their ability. This is not being done by all of the council members. Mr. Isaacs is a good campaigner; we only ask that he be as good a council member.

THANKS

To the Editor:

On February 10 members of the Rescue Division of the Greenbelt Fire Department and Rescue Squad responded to a call from our home to assist after my husband had a severe seizure. The timely response and professional services rendered are indicative of the high caliber of men and women who so unselfishly devote their time and talents to the protection of our community.

You can well imagine the overwhelming feeling of concern that I experienced for my husband during this incident. The calm and deliberate actions of the Rescue Squad personnel went a long way toward restoring some sense of order in the midst of chaos. I would like to take this opportunity to extend my deepest appreciation to the members of this organization.

Also we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our pastor, Father John Stack, who was waiting at the hospital when we arrived at 5 a.m.

To all those who sent prayers, cards and calls during these stressful weeks we send our thanks and gratitude.

It is a wonderful thing to live in such a community as Greenbelt. We are deeply grateful for the opportunity to have spent the last 50 years among you and to have raised our eight children here.

Senior Softballers Prepare for Season

Greenbelt's Co-Recreational Senior Softballers are gearing up for another season of fun and fellowship. Anyone 55 years and over is invited to participate. Experience or outstanding skills are not required.

This year will mark their fifth season. The senior team participation has ranged from recreational pick-up games to league and tournament competition in Greenbelt as well as Montgomery and Baltimore Counties. The team has won several awards including Senior Division Championship Honors. Team members dedicated this past year's season to the memory of two former players — Bob Cottingham and Charlie Kincius.

For information, contact the Recreation Department weekdays, 474-6878. Team practices will be held Monday mornings on Braden Field. An organizational meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 14 at noon on the field. In the event of inclement weather, the meeting will be held in the Youth Center.

Beauchamp-Sucher Correspondence: Second Letter in a 26-Year Series

Dear Dorothy,

Twenty-six years ago, when I was leaving Greenbelt for a two-year tour in Africa, you did a profile on me for this newspaper. You did it in the form of a letter. Now it's my turn to reciprocate (pay you back?). But this is not a profile; it's a review. You've become a published author.

To academic types like me, seminars is a common-enough word. But Dead Men Don't Give Seminars (!) — that's the title of your who-dun-it. "Oh, yes, they do!" says your friend Lila Snow, another physics wife who knows. I've met Lila and many of Joe's (Joe Sucher, Dorothy's husband) colleagues from the Physics Department and their spouses at pleasant parties at your home. They always seemed like kind, creative folks. I never dreamed there were such layers of competitiveness — to the point of murder, even — in that crowd. But none of them were Nobel laureates. Perhaps that makes the difference. It's a Nobel laureate who gets killed. I noticed on the dust jacket that you are described as a psychotherapist, a mother, and former "editor-in-chief of a small-town weekly newspaper." (I wonder which one!) Nowhere does it say that you are the spouse of a Physicist. But that's the crucial clue of course, to what you have wrought (or wrote). I kept finding intriguing details throughout the book — not necessarily the clue, but indications of your wanderings through life, both geographically and career-wise. The alpenstock: that comes, of course, from your sojourns in Switzerland, while Joe was doing physics at CERN. Then there is the name of the specific town in Corsica, with the arrangement of buildings and street. I seem to remember that you and Joe attended a conference in Corsica. And then there is the local landscape — your narrator, who used to be a student at the University of Maryland and lives in a tract house, a sort of Levittown, in Bowie. Your detective, bless her soul, with her spike heels, who hails from the District. (You call it Washington in the book.) Your knowledge of Vermont, where you have a summer home, should come as no surprise either. And of course various psychological and sexual aberrations among your characters — they can be traced to your work as a therapist. There's even an occasional feminist comment — from when you used to run consciousness-raising sessions for NOW? (The detective is a getting-up-in-years woman; the assistant is the man. That's satisfying to a reader like me. I can indulge in my own fantasies.)

Well, it's a good read, Dorothy. One does not have to be a personal acquaintance to enjoy the game you spin out here, the collection of international scholars and local citizens who mix in strange but sometimes congenial ways. And the sense of an academic world of arcane research — you've got that right. And, sure, after a certain point I had to keep on reading — that's what who-dun-it's are all about. I won't tell the ending, but I'm happy to say your detective, Sabine, solved the crime. For a minute there I thought she could be the next victim!

I understand you needed to save her for the next book. About chess playing, I believe. That's another subject you owe to Joe, who used to take on all of Greenbelt at the Labor Day festivals. Can't you give him a line on your next book jacket?

Love,
Virginia

NASA Visitor Center Has Star Watch and Films

There will be a star watch on Saturday, March 12 from 7 to 9 p.m. The Visitor Center at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center will open its doors this evening for a monthly star watch. People should bring their own telescope and binoculars or use one of the Visitor Center's three telescopes to peer at the moon, planets and other celestial objects. People should remember to dress for the season. In case of inclement weather, Star Watch will be postponed until Saturday evening, April 9.

On Saturday, March 12 and Sunday March 13 the NASA Film Series continues at 1 p.m. with two films each day.

"The Father of the Space Age" is a presentation of the life story of Dr. Robert Goddard and his work. Dr. Goddard, known today as the "Father of Rocketry," toiled for many years during the early part of the century in relative obscurity. He successfully launched the first liquid fueled rocket on March 16, 1926.

"A Man's Reach Should Exceed His Grasp," this film represents the story of flight and of man's reach for a new freedom through aviation and the exploration of space. From the Wright Brother's flight at Kitty Hawk to the landing on the moon and future missions to the planets, the film depicts the fulfillment of the ancient dream of flight.

The center is on Soil Conservation Road off Greenbelt Rd.

PGCC Presents Opera

The Hallam Players and Chorus Club of Prince Georges Community College will appear in a production of "The Medium," an opera by Gian Carlo Menotti.

Performances are at 8 p.m., March 11, 18 and 19 in the Hallam Theatre. A matinee performance will be held at 3 p.m., Sunday, March 13.

"The Medium" brings to life the conflict between illusion and reality. Madame Flora, a charlatan medium who uses her daughter and a mute gypsy boy to assist in her frauds, comes to believe in her own fakery. She is unwittingly caught between two worlds, a world of reality which she cannot wholly comprehend, and a supernatural world in which she cannot believe.

Greenbriar Beach Party

Residents and friends partied "beach style" at the Greenbriar Terrace Room's Beach Party Happy Hour held on Friday, March 4. Several vigorous games of beachball volleyball left players thirsty for raspberry rum punch and hungry for fresh fruit, both of which were being served throughout the evening.

Three lucky numbers were drawn and three residents went home with doorprizes, compliments of Adidas and Making Waves of College Park.

Residents of Greenbriar and Glen Oaks now look forward to the Mexican Nite Happy Hour, to be held in the Terrace Room on March 25. Ole!

Resale Financing Subject of GHI Debate

by Mavis Fletcher

At the February 25 meeting, the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. received a new recognition agreement offered by Clark Financial Services as governing document for making loans on GHI units. According to GHI manager Ron Colton, Clark Financial had indicated that they would not make loans under the recognition agreement approved by the board on January 7. Instead, the lending firm offered a new agreement which has been used extensively in the New York area.

Colton noted that there would be less need "for the representations and warranties contained in the earlier agreement" if the board (and the corporation counsel) found that the new document offered by Clark Financial adequately protected GHI from financial loss in the event of a loan default by a member. According to statements of Shekar Narasimhan, Executive Vice-President of Clark Financial Services, at the January 7 meeting, these representations and warranties were unacceptable to the Federal National Mortgage Association and therefore the firm could not lend under those provisions.

After thorough discussion, the board by consensus directed the manager to have the corporation counsel incorporate some provisions discussed during the meeting into the recognition agreement and bring it back to the board. The board is expected to consider the matter again at its March 10 meeting.

Citicorp

The board dealt with some points raised by Citicorp Savings of Washington, D.C., in their negotiations prior to making loans on GHI units. For example, Citicorp requested prior assurance that they would be allowed to sublet a unit for a six month period if they were unable to sell the unit within six months after taking it over on a default. On two unanimous votes, the board gave the assurances Citicorp wanted.

Mortgage Availability

Member Keith Chernikoff appeared before the board to ask about "the general state of mortgage availability." He reported that some prospective buyers of GHI units had made comments to him which implied a perception that the board is trying to make it difficult for lenders to operate in GHI.

President Margaret Hogensen refuted that perception by pointing out that recognition agreements with two lenders were on the agenda for that evening's meeting. Director Chuck Hess noted that one of these lenders (Citicorp) is the largest lender in the country. He also maintained that the board has to be concerned with the quality of the mortgage lenders in GHI. Hogensen underlined this point by noting the great amount of staff time which was consumed when lenders went out of business during the savings and loan crisis a few years ago.

Vice-President Wayne Williams added that management and the board have an obligation to try to make sure that loans are available and noted that there is only one lender which has no limit for loans in the community.

Playground Improvements

The board voted to inform the city that playground equipment to be purchased with funds in the 88-89 budget should be slated for the playground between 6 and 8 Courts of Plateau Place. The board debated for some time between this location and two playgrounds (at 8-10 Southway and 36-38 Ridge) in the south end. Several directors said there seemed to be more children in the north end. Chernikoff stated that in his door-knocking campaigning for the council last fall he had also observed the large number of children in that part of town. Installation of the equipment would probably take place in the spring of 1989, Colton said.

Audit Committee member Lucille Jacoby raised the issue of the shredded tire material which is used as padding beneath play equipment, saying that it floats away and gets the children dirty. No one disputed this observation but Assistant Manager Steve Wright pointed out that it seems to be better than any other material available. Sand attracts cats, he said, and the kids get splinters from woodchips.

Other Subjects

The board approved a management suggestion to explore the purchase of two replacement vehicles (a subcompact and a minivan) used if this should prove more economical than new purchases. The board approved for first reading authorization to spend up to $15,000 for these used vehicles. The vote was 6 to 2 with Williams and Hess opposed.

The board discussed the proposal to establish a Commercial District Management Authority (CDMA) program in the Roosevelt Center. Such an authority would allow the city to assess a special tax or licensing fee on businesses to raise funds to improve the defined district.

GHI is not a member of the Roosevelt Center Merchants Association; however, the Greenbelt Development Corporation, a subsidiary of GHI which owns apartments on Parkway, is a member. GDC lies outside the district under the current definition. Treasurer Ray McCawley raised a question about whether GDC would want to be a part of the CDMA. On a reminder that there is a scheduled meeting on the plans for the center on March 10, further discussion was deferred.

The next meeting of the GHI board of directors will be on March 10 and the second meeting in the month on March 24. However, the board rescheduled the April meetings to 7 and 21 to avoid a conflict with the annual meetings of the National Cooperative Bank and the Cooperative Business Association.

Loomis Photos Are on Display

Photographs by Tom H. W. Loomis will be on display during March at Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church. Loomis has previously had showings at local libraries and St. Lawrence University and has a series of his bird photography on a long-term loan to Merkle Wildlife Sanctuary Nature Center in Upper Marlboro.

Photography has been Loomis' lifelong hobby, in which he has been able to combine both his profession — geology — and his other interests — travel and bird-watching. The showing is open to the public and free. Recommended hours for viewing are Sundays between 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Other times may be arranged by contacting the church office on 937-3666.

Crime Prevention Seminar

AMI Doctors' Hospital will sponsor a crime prevention seminar on Tuesday, March 15, at 7 p.m. This free one hour seminar will revolve around practical tips that all individuals can use to keep themselves from becoming victims of crime.

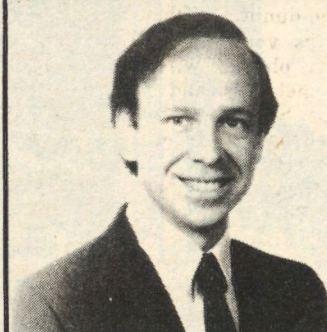

The seminar will be presented by a professional speaker highly trained in crime prevention, who is part of a national safety organization called Citizens Against Crime (CAC).

All members of the community are invited and encouraged to attend the free seminar which will be held in the annex classrooms, on the third floor of the Annex Building, directly behind the hospital. Those interested should phone 552-9400, extension 5277 for more information and to register.

Auditions this Weekend

Auditions for the final production of the 1987-88 season, Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians" to be directed by Marie Tousignant will be held at the Greenbelt Arts Center on Sun. and Mon., March 13 and 14 at 7 p.m. All parts for men and women of all ages are open. Production dates are Fridays and Saturdays, May 6-28, 8 p.m. For info, 441-8770, 441-1033.

Psychiatrist Opens Office in Greenbelt

Dr. Ralph Fawcett has announced the opening of his psychiatric practice in Greenbelt at the Greenway East Professional Center on Greenbelt Road. A native of New York State, Fawcett studied both in the United States and the British Isles before beginning his psychiatric specialty training at Washington University in St. Louis. While there he worked a considerable amount in the psychiatric emergency room treating a multitude of severely emotionally disturbed individuals.

Moving to the Washington, D.C. area in 1984, he joined the staff of the National Institute of Mental Health administering a ward specializing in schizophrenia research. He developed special interest in the effects of cocaine on the brain, as well as the study of the brain by the use of computerized mappings of brain waves.

Dr. Fawcett lives with his wife and two children in Greenbelt. He is available to speak to service and school groups on topics such as major depression, over-activity in children, cocaine and computerized brainwave mapping as a diagnostic tool.

Ferguson Named VP By West & Brady

Jeannette Ferguson has been named Vice President of West & Brady, Inc., an advertising and public relations company located in Greenbelt, according to the firm's President Gerald T. Brady.

Ferguson was formerly Director of Marketing and Public Affairs for the Prince Georges County Economic Development Corporation, where she is credited with creating a highly successful public relations program for the county.

Ferguson is Vice President of the Prince Georges Breakfast of Champions and of the Prince Georges County Public Relations Association. A member of the Board of Directors of the County's Friends of the Equestrian Center and of its Entrepreneurial Advisory Board, she also serves as a consultant to the California-based National Association for Children of Alcoholics. She was educated in Japan and Germany before entering Hood College, where she majored in political science and psychology.

THIRD HIGHRISE STRETCHING UP IN MARYLAND TRADE CENTER PARK

by Elaine Skolnik

Construction of the long-delayed Maryland Trade Center Building III is underway in Maryland Trade Center Park. With the erection of the 210,000 square-foot 12-story building - slated for completion in December 1988 - the final stage of the ten year buildout of the 688,000 square foot park has at last been reached. The complex, among the major priority projects identified by the Prince Georges County Economic Development Corporation, shows especially strong promise of helping the county achieve its economic goals.

Annexed by the city in April 1982, the 35 acre Park is located behind the Greenway Shopping Center at the interchange of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and the Capital Beltway. Other buildings in the complex are Coakley & Williams, Inc.'s 192,000 square-foot MTC I, which opened in July 1980; the 172,000 square-foot MTC II, in September 1984; and the Holiday Inn. On site also is Martin's Crosswinds, a catering and banquet facility.

Construction of the $11.3 million MTC III had been scheduled for the summer of 1986. At the time preliminary drawings for a 15-story, 230,000 square foot building had been completed and site plans approved by the city and county. However, construction of the building was put on hold until the Greenbelt City Council waived a covenant provision delaying construction until road improvements were made. This action was taken in November 1985.

The new building consists of a poured-in-place concrete structural system with a bronze glass curtainwall facade, creating a unique curvilinear shape. Typical floors are 16,400 square feet and have 8'6" ceilings. The architects are Sargent and Associates of Brookville, Maryland.

The interior design, carried out by H.O.K. of Washington, D.C., features a two-story atri-

Fraternal Order of Police Elects Executive Board

Sgt. John Lann has recently been elected president of the Greenbelt City Police Department Fraternal Order of Police (FOP), Lodge #32. A native of Hastings, Pa., Sgt. Lann started his police career with the Baltimore City Police Department in 1973 and has been a member of the Greenbelt City Police Department for 13 years. He sees the FOP as an important link between the police and the community, and looks forward to seeing the FOP become more actively involved in community affairs. He also hopes to strengthen the positive relationship between the officers and the citizens they serve.

Other newly elected members of the executive board include: vice president, James Danny Love; recording secretary, Carolyn McLean; corresponding secretary, Craig Rich; treasurer, Greg Lynn; state trustee Terrence McGrath; and conductor, Timothy Hahn. Past president Patrick McAndrew will also serve on the board. The board serves for two years.

The Greenbelt Chapter of the FOP is part of the National Fraternal Order of Police, a national organization dedicated to serving the public through protection and safety and to serving law enforcement officers through improvement of the profession and the protection of the police officer.

Golden Age Club

By Janet James

There are all kinds of horns—horns like animals wear, horn-rimmed glasses, but the kind of horns where you blow in and "the music goes round and round, oo, oo, oo, and it comes out here," is the kind that Dr. Frank Scimonelli of Prince Georges Community College is going to play for the Golden Age Club at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, March 16 at the Youth Center. Come and give your ears a treat!

Another thing, if you thought you were going to Potomac Mills on March 14, you were mistaken; you aren't going until March 21—it's been changed.

My, we're getting wordy today. We also would like to tell you that if you haven't paid your dues for 1988 yet, you should be ashamed of yourself, but you can still quiet that guilty conscience by getting in touch with Lorraine Moroney, 474-5342, 14-N Rillside Rd., or at a meeting. If you have passed your 80th birthday by January 1, 1988, you don't need to feel guilty for you don't owe any dues. Ain't it fun growing old?

Police Blotter

Partial Listing Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

After stopping to assist a motorist with a disabled car on Feb. 26, Officer Thomas Moreland found that the driver's license had been suspended. A search of the car revealed a loaded handgun. The operator was charged with driving while driving privileges were suspended, and transporting a handgun. He was incarcerated in lieu of bond.

On Feb. 29, a woman resident was assaulted by a female suspect after a dispute over a parking space in the 8000 block of Mandan Road. The suspect was described as a white female, in her 30's, 5'7" with a medium build, light brown hair, wearing glasses. She was a passenger in a late model, cream-colored mid-size car being operated by a white male. The incident occurred about 9 p.m.

A male juvenile and an adult were assaulted by an intoxicated man at the Greenbelt American Legion on Feb. 28 just before midnight. A non-resident man was arrested by Officer Thomas Keifline and charged with two counts of battery. He was incarcerated in lieu of bond.

During the day on March 1, a breaking and entering occurred in the 65 Court of Ridge Road. Entry may have been made through the rear patio door. A VCR and stereo equipment were stolen.

On March 3 Officer Thomas Keifline arrested a non-resident man and charged him with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). A check revealed that the man was wanted by the county Sheriff's Dept. The arrest grew out of investigation of a complaint about a domestic dispute in the 200 block of Lakecrest Drive.

Another drug arrest occurred on March 2 when Keifline stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation. The driver, a nonresident male, was found to be in possession of a CDS and was incarcerated in lieu of bond.

Four instances of money being removed from purses in an office on Edmonston Road were reported on March 2. The incidents had occurred over the previous month. In each case, the purse was left unattended in a desk drawer.

A breaking and entering occurred during the day on March 3 in the 7600 block of Mandan Road. Entry was gained by prying open the rear door. TV's and other items were stolen.

On Feb. 26 a light-blue Datsun 200SX, Md. tag RBT 209, was stolen from the National Guard Armory parking lot. On Feb. 29 a 1983 Chevrolet Camaro, which had been stolen from a municipal parking lot, was found on fire near Central Avenue. Md. license plates, TDX 107, were stolen in the 7800 block of Hanover Pkwy. on Feb. 26. On Feb. 28, Md. plate TAD 539 was stolen in the 8100 block of Lakecrest Dr.

Original Works by Area Composers Are Featured

The Publick Playhouse in Cheverly presents "Music For Voices and Instruments" on March 15 at 8 p.m. The program will be preceded by an informal discussion at 7:30 p.m. The concert, the last in the "Tuesday's Composer" chamber music series, is presented by the Playhouse in conjunction with The National Capital Area Composers' Consortium.

Featured in the concert will be the premiere of "Cantata Sequenza: Stabat Mater" by Carolyn Bock, well known local composer and current doctoral candidate at the University of Maryland. The work of Ying Kwang-I, a piano performance and composition major at the University will also be presented in selections entitled "Four Movements For Solo Clarinet and Fantasy For Cello and Piano." Music by area composers Janet Peachey and Louis Reichwein will also be featured.

Con Viva Musica, a locally based ensemble specializing in songs of the Baroque period, will perform selections in the March 15 concert, accompanied by an

Public Hearing to be Held On Zoning Law Changes

The Prince Georges County Planning Board will hold a public hearing on recommended legislation to revise the adequate public facilities section of the subdivision regulations and guidelines for demonstrating how the regulations would be administered. The hearing will take place at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, March 24, First Floor Hearing Room, County Administration Building, Upper Marlboro. Public testimony will be solicited from individuals and organizations with a three (3) minute time limit for individuals and five (5) minutes for persons representing organizations.

Copies of the recommended legislation are available at the fourth floor information counter at the County Administration Building and at all libraries of the Prince Georges County Memorial Library System.

For further information contact Bob Reed at 952-4314.

This Does Not Affect The Amount of Taxes You Pay, Only What Jurisdictions Receive Them.

"Streetcar" Opens At Arts Center

"A Street car Named Desire" by Tennessee Williams will open at the Greenbelt Arts Center, Roosevelt Mall, on March 11 at 8 p.m. and run Friday and Saturday evenings through April 2. Set in a small tenement in New Orleans, "Streetcar" is probably one of Williams' best-known dramas.

Director Michael Stepowany has brought together actors from all over the metropolitan Washington area, including many who have appeared on the Greenbelt stage before. The part of Stella will be played by Cheryl Stepanek of Virginia who appeared in last seasons' productions of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" and "Unexpected Guest." Stanley is played by Rhoden Skyles II who last appeared in "Raisin in the Sun" earlier this season.

With this production Stepowany is showing his versatility in the theater. Professionally, Stepowany is the director of the scene shop at the University of Maryland and has designed and constructed sets for the University, the Prince Georges Opera, the Castle and Gallaudet in addition to the Greenbelt Arts Center. This is his first major step in directing.

"To Your Smile"

Dr. Ray Vidal

Is there any first aid for a toothache?

The first step is to call your family dentist. If you do not have one or are unable to contact any dentist in your area, look in the Yellow Pages under dentists, where you will find an emergency number provided by the Dental Society

If the toothache is caused by a large cavity, temporary relief can sometimes be achieved by rinsing with warm water, to remove food debris, and then placing oil of clove on a small piece of cotton in the tooth. Under no circumstances should aspirin or similar pain relievers be placed in the tooth or on the gum. These medicines work only by being swallowed and will cause additional problems if not used according to directions.
